Dear Ms. Romine:

I have signed affidavits in the past stating that I do not want to give up the gas rights to my property nor do I want them to drill or run lines under my property. I know they have offered me small amount of money for this privilege but I have turned them down more than once. I do not understand why this keeps being an issue. We, the property owners, have bought and paid for our land and we should have the right to decide if we want someone drilling or trenching beneath our property.

I wish I could be there to protest in person but I am going to be out of town on the day you have the hearing.

I feel this is trespassing on my land and that the idea of gas lines under my property is dangerous and can contaminate our land and water supplies. This firm has no business interfering with my life and land. I have told them to their faces to leave me alone and this is just pure harassment on their part. I was taught no is no and you do not go around the system to get what you want.

I also have a big concern my property value will go down knowing there is a line for gas lines on property. According to what I have looked into this is a very strong likelihood.

Please consider what we the property owners want and not how the gas company will profit from this. I am sure Idaho will receive something for their coffers from the gas company but we as tax payers and land owners should have the final say, not big business.

Thank you for listening and please do the right thing and keep these people in Texas or where ever they are from. Let's keep Idaho clean and healthy. Please protect our private property and rights.

Respectfully,

L. Kay McPheeters, Land owner
