Ms. Romine,

My family lives in Payette County about 3 miles from the Barlow well site with the future gas pipeline coming within 200 feet of our house.

We continue to be concerned with several things that come with the oil and gas industry. We live in Fruitland, Idaho for it's clean environment and quality of life.

Our main concerns:

1. The threat to our water.

The drilling process passes through our water tables with the possibility of leaks contaminating our water sources. Wells have been drilled next to the Payette river and in the flood plains. Future pipelines will crisscross the river upstream from the city of Fruitland's main water source. Area's down stream would be polluted by possible pipeline leaks. The idea of injecting drilling toxic waste back into our wells is unacceptable.

2. The pollution of our air and land.

3. Our property values. It is unknown what effect industry will have on our real estate values.

We already have standards established. Please don't allow our regulations to be changed for industry benefits. Think safety first.
